To Potential Employers of Chris Wade

Chris Wade has worked with us since June, 1989, full-time during the summers and half-time while a student at Northwest Christian College. We selected him for the job because he took the extra effort to submit a resume and letter of introduction. This exemplifies Chris' willingness to make the extra effort to get done what he sees as necessary.

The skill that Chris brought to us is a comprehensive understanding of Personal Computer Operating Systems and Programs. He has enabled us to install, upgrade and maintain three PC's and eight Input/Output devices, all interconnected. Chris is also the person we turn to when we need debugging of software and hardware incompatibilities. Turn him loose and he will come up with a solution. He has an extensive knowledge of MS-DOS, Ventura Publishing, Wordperfect, PC ARC/INFO, DESQVIEW, Minicomputer-Microcomputer communications, and is becoming fluent in XENIX. He is a fast worker and a fast learner.

While Chris was working during the school year, he primarily was alone and unsupervised. He demonstrated the ability to usually exceed our expectations and get more completed than was expected. He is honest and anxious to see the job to completion. Budget cutbacks have required us to make significant reductions in our workforce and unfortunately this includes Chris. I heartily recommend him as an employee who is a dedicated worker who thrives on challenges.
